

30-03-26 Experiential Workshops entitled: "Children seek and cultivate life values that protect them"

On Friday, March 27, 2026, experiential workshops entitled "Children seek and cultivate life values that protect them" for 130 students from five middle schools and three high schools in Attica, accompanied by 14 teachers, were held at the Ministry of Education, Religious Affairs and Sports.

This educational initiative was held for the fifth time at the Ministry of Education, Religious Affairs and Sports and is part of a series of activities organized under the Memorandum of Cooperation between the General Secretariat for Religious Affairs, the Ecumenical Forum of European Christian Women "Damaris the Athenian", and the "Initiative for the Prevention of Domestic Violence" of the Youth and Family Foundation of the Holy Archdiocese of Athens. One of the Memorandum's key objectives is the prevention and response to child abuse, both by adults and among minors.

The experiential workshops were conducted by qualified professionals from the fields of education, child rights protection, theatre, visual arts and sports, as well as by the Attica Sub-Directorate for the Protection of Minors of the Hellenic Police. The workshops covered a range of topics such as protection from uncontrolled internet use, artificial intelligence, raising awareness of child abuse, fostering healthy interpersonal relationships, promoting the values of sports over violence, as well as methods for preventing and addressing juvenile delinquency (Safe Youth and Panic Button).

At the same time, the workshop for the accompanying teachers focused on teacher–student relationships, with the aim of strengthening a supportive and safe school environment.
